

THE SECOND GREEN: William Sutton putting on the second green in the fourth round. The picture gives an excellent idea of the country over which Saunton is laid out. The Saunton Sands Hotel in the distance does not exactly enhance the prospect, but it certainly "fills a long fell want."

OUT OF THE BENTS: C. Stowe (above) and T. R. Deighton, both of Staffordshire, had a great struggle, out of which Stowe emerged victorious, to be beaten by Geoffrey Illingworth at the 19th hole in the ensuing round.

ENGLISH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

Some Incidents at Saunton

(Below) A DEVIL OF A TWIST: A. L. Bentley, brother of last year's winner, who was beaten in the fifth round by J. F. F. Penwick, driving from the tenth teeing ground against J. S. F. Morrison, whom he beat in the fifth round by 3 and 2.

A VICTIM OF SUTTON: I. J. L. Salmash, of Royal North Devon, went out with a bang against William Sutton, being beaten by 6 and 5. He is seen playing an iron from the tee at the one-shot first hole, watched by an interested crowd. Saunton is as pleasant a place to watch golf at as you could wish for.

Right A JOB FOR A FERRET: Francis Ferret was beaten by D. H. Yorath, of West Hill. The incident depicted was a contributory cause. These drainage "grips" are an irritating form of hazard but a necessity for the upkeep of the green.